The Wagner Law Group Expands its Trusts and Estates Practice in Florida and Missouri

We are pleased to announce the expansion of our trusts and estates practice with the inclusion of Kimberly Shaw Elliott, who has joined our group of highly experienced trusts and estates attorneys, extending this vital practice area to Florida and Missouri. In the wake of the SECURE Act changes and the affects of COVID-19, The Wagner Law Group is prepared to help clients respond to changes in the law as well as to reevaluate their personal planning needs.

Kim, who received an LLM in Graduate Law - Taxation from Washington University in St. Louis School of Law, will focus her trusts and estates practice both in Florida, where we maintain offices in Boynton Beach and Tampa, and in Missouri, home to our St. Louis office. She brings extensive experience in wealth management and practical insights in insurance-based solutions. Kim will join Regina Snow Mandl, head of our trusts and estates practice group, as well as John Keegan and Shanna Giora-Gorfajn, in providing the highest level of legal advice to our trusts and estates clients.

Our trusts and estates practice group takes pride in its keen focus on protecting assets, managing wealth, and transmitting wealth to future generations based on particular client situations. It offers comprehensive estate planning, including marital trusts, wills, durable powers of attorney, health care proxies, living wills and HIPAA releases, and is experienced in the creation of a variety of complex trusts, such as irrevocable life insurance trusts, qualified domestic order trusts and children's trusts. Our trusts and estates team regularly provides legal advice to fiduciaries, including trustees, personal representatives, guardians and conservators, and establishes guardianships and conservatorships, conducts probate administration, and advises on post-mortem planning.
