

this appointment, Greenaway served for 12 years as a U.S. District Court judge in New Jersey. For his judicial service, he has been honored with the Thurgood Marshall College Fund Award of Excellence, the Columbia College John Jay Award and the Columbia University Medal of Excellence.

The Asian American Legal Defense and Education Fund presented a 2010 Justice in Action Award to LARRY TU in February. He is currently senior vice president and general counsel of Dell.

1982 RENATO CORONA LL.M. was nominated as a possible successor to Chief Justice Reynato Puno of the Supreme Court of the Philippines, who is retiring in May. Corona is a Supreme Court senior associate justice who was appointed to the court in 2002.

JOHN M. GEORGE JR. wrote that after 25 years at Sidley Austin, he has left to become a partner at Katten & Temple, also in Chicago, a litigation boutique headed by NANCY A. TEMPLE '89 and Mitch Katten.

CHESTER LEE is now a partner at Duane Morris in its real estate practice group in New York City. Lee has extensive experience in national real estate matters, representing both lenders and borrowers in secured financings and loan restructurings, including construction loans, real-estate-owned properties, leasehold financing and mezzanine debt. He was previously a partner at Morgan, Lewis & Bockius.

1983 ISAAC BORENSTEIN LL.M. joined Denner Pellegrino as a partner in the criminal law and civil divisions in February. In this role, he handles complex matters in state and federal courts at the trial and appellate levels. Borenstein is a former associate justice of the Superior Court of Massachusetts.

KARL BROOKS was selected by PRESIDENT BARACK OBAMA '91 to become the regional administrator for the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency's Region 7, which encompasses Iowa, Kansas, Missouri, Nebraska and nine Tribal Nations. Brooks is responsible for managing the agency's regional activities under the direction of the EPA administrator, promoting state and local environmental protection efforts, and serving as a liaison to state and local government officials. Brooks previously taught history and environmental studies at the University of Kansas for 10 years.

After serving as a federal prosecutor in Seattle, Wash., for 20 years, and receiving numerous awards from the U.S. Department of Justice, RON FRIEDMAN has left government practice. He is now a partner at the Seattle law firm Lane Powell, where he concentrates on criminal defense, health care and regulatory compliance.

In November 2009, JON LARAMORE received the Dave Hamacher Public Service Award from the Indiana State Bar Association for his contributions to the appellate practice in Indiana. He is a partner at Baker & Daniels in Indianapolis and serves as lead partner in the firm's appellate practice. Laramore was also elected a member of the American Academy of Appellate Lawyers in September 2009. He has argued cases in front of the U.S. Supreme Court, the Indiana Supreme Court, and other state and federal appellate courts.

JANET MCCABE was named principal deputy assistant administrator for air and radiation in the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency. She assists in the management of numerous programs to improve air quality, address global climate change, and implement indoor air and radiation programs. McCabe was the executive director of Improving Kids' Environment in Indianapolis, a nonprofit advocacy group that works to reduce environmental threats to children's health. She has been a member of the EPA's Clean Air Act Advisory Committee, the Children's Health Protection Advisory Group, and the National Institutes of Environmental Health and Sciences Council.

DAVID WESTENBERG wrote "Initial Public Offerings: A Practical Guide to Going Public," a book that draws on his decades of experience as a leader in the IPO market and is thought by many to be the first practical guide to focus exclusively on the planning, procedures, opportunities and pitfalls of the IPO process. Westenberg is a partner in the corporate practice group in WilmerHale's Boston office.

1984 LORETTA E. LYNCH was nominated by PRESIDENT BARACK OBAMA '91 to serve as a U.S. attorney, Eastern District of New York in January. Lynch was a partner at Hogan & Hartson, and from 2002 to 2007, she worked pro bono as counsel to the prosecutor at the United Nations International Criminal Tribunal for Rwanda in Arusha, Tanzania. Prior to these appointments, she was an assistant U.S. attorney for the Eastern District of New York for nine years and later the U.S. attorney for that district from 1999 to 2001.

RICHARD WILLIAMSON, a professor at the University of Miami School of Law, has been elected chairman of the faculty senate for the university. In addition to his teaching and research responsibilities, he had previously served as associate dean of the law school and interim chairman of the department of international studies in the College of Arts and Sciences.

1985 ARTURO J. GONZÁLEZ wrote that, during 2010, he is serving as the 97th president of the Bar Association of San Francisco and he is still chairman of the trial practice group at Morrison & Foerster in San Francisco, where last year he won a $36 million jury verdict in a trade secrets trial.

In July 2009, Carlsmith Ball appointed JAY S. HANDLIN as a partner in its Honolulu and Los Angeles offices. His practice focuses on complex commercial litigation and appeals related to real property, toxic torts, class actions, insurance and intellectual property, among other issues. Handlin has been with Carlsmith Ball since 2007.

URS SCHENKER LL.M. has published a treatise on Swiss takeover law (Schweizerisches Übernahmerecht, Stämpfli Verlag, Bern, 2009) which was accepted as a professional thesis by the University of St. Gallen, where he became a Privatdozent. In 2009, he was elected president of the Harvard Club of Switzerland. He continues to be managing partner of Baker & McKenzie in Zurich.

ANTHONY THOMPSON was selected as a winner of this year's Martin Luther King Jr. Faculty Award by New York University. He was nominated by his students and selected by a committee of faculty, administrators, and students for his leadership, for his excellence in scholarship and teaching, and for modeling the values represented by Dr. King. Thompson teaches courses related to criminal law and civil litigation, and his scholarship focuses on race, offender re-entry and criminal justice issues.

1987 WALTER EFFROSS, a professor at American University Washington College of Law, wrote, "I am the author of 'Corporate Governance: Principles and Practices' (Aspen, 2009)."

LOUIS VLAHOS was appointed to the Queens College Business Advisory Board and to the board of the Queens Economic Development Corp. He is a partner at Farrell Fritz in Uniondale, N.Y.

In January, MARCIA STAIRMAN WAGNER was named one of the top 40 Most Influential People in the 401(k) industry in a recent poll conducted in part by 401kExchange. Wagner is the managing partner of the Wagner Law Group in Boston, which specializes in ERISA, employee benefits and executive compensation law. She has written numerous books and articles, and she is a frequent presenter at national retirement plan conferences. Since 2008, she has served on the Internal Revenue Service Advisory Committee on Tax Exempt and Government Entities.

1988 TRACIE BUTLER GILES joined Inglis Foundation as vice president, chief integrity officer in August 2009. Prior to this position, she was deputy chief compliance officer at CIGNA Corp.